

ASEXUALS

Your guide to the new acceptable targets and how to make fun of them

A satirical zine by Emma Kantt

SO, YOU'RE A LEFT- OF-CENTER COMEDIAN...

And making fun of gay people is blasé now.

You still use
"gay" as an insult?
Ew.

And making fun of trans people makes you sound like a Republican...

*I'm sorry Matt Furie I know this is not how you want your creation to be used

So what should you do?

Well, you heard you should "punch
up" in your jokes,
but "punching down"
is sooooo much easier.

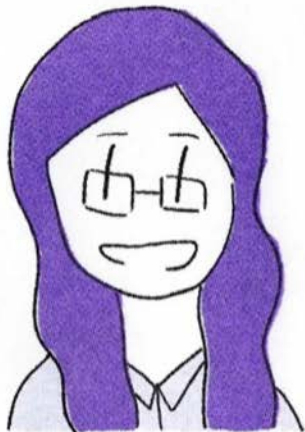

But fear not!
There IS an acceptable target you can safely punch down at!

That's right...

ASEXUALS!

So how do you do it?

It's kind of like virgin-shaming, except you won't anger the "virginity is a construct" crowd.

For example, you could compare us to creepy and unsettling people:

the raw asexual energy Johnny depp's willy wonka held wastoo much. Too powerful

6/25/18 - 27 Nov 2019

"Oh, and I'm sorry if we implied you're both asexual nerds who can only be friends with service animals."

-Gina Linetti, Brooklyn Nine-Nine

"So are Bert and Ernie a gay couple, or are they simply two adult asexual men with no outside relationships, living together to dull the pain of their loveless existence?"

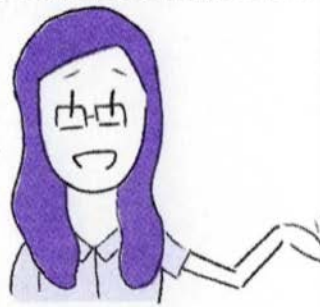

-Stephen Colbert

Or you can make us out to be sad, unlovable loners, as demonstrated by these quotes from popular media.

Won't people get upset with you?

Other than asexuals, not really! See, even most of the LGBTQ+ community doesn't like us and actively makes fun of us. Remember those quotes from the previous page? There was like, no outcry about those at all! Jokes about us will be great for your next comedy set or semi-viral funny social media post. Now go forth and have fun!!!!

emmakanntt.com