CHOOSING ELECTIVE COURSEWORK

Be mindful of your time during the week when building your schedule! Consult with your program director about time management and suitable electives to compliment your creative practice.

Recommended Graduate Electives

Review the Schedule of Courses for a complete list of graduate studio, liberal art and professional development elective courses. Students can also choose from dozens of elective courses, graduate or undergraduate, listed in the full schedule of courses at www.mica.edu.

Baltimore Student Exchange Program

Explore elective courses at our partner institutions (Johns Hopkins University and University of Baltimore) through the Baltimore Student Exchange Program. Forms and approval required through Enrollment Services. Contact Carissa Mattern, BSEP Coordinator, cmattern@mica.edu, in Enrollment Services for additional information.

MICA's Open Studies

Consider courses through MICA's Open Studies. Graduate students registered full-time may take one credit bearing course per semester (up to 3 credits). Call Open Studies directly (410) 225.2219 to register.

Independent Study

Independent study courses provide students the opportunity to develop and conduct self-designed research projects in collaboration with campus faculty. Independent study courses require the instructor approval, and a completed contract complying with MICA standards. Forms should be returned to the Office of Enrollment Services.

Internship for Credit

Professional internships may also be substituted for studio / liberal arts elective credit with permission from your program director. Students must attend an Internship Orientation through the Office of Career Development. Visit MICA's Career Development Office online for more information.

Critical Studies Emphasis (CSE)

Formed by the completion of (15) fifteen credits (or five, 3-credit courses) of graduate-level work in approved 5000-level courses in CRST, CWRT, and AH including ED 5533; 300 and 400-level courses in AH, LIT, and MCLT; and 300-level courses in SSCI and PHIL.

Emphasis in Intercultural Communication (EIC)

Open to all graduate students, this emphasis has a flexible delivery model where students can supplement their practices by emphasizing critical inquiry into intercultural competency development. The EIC is comprised of (12) credits (or four, 3-credit courses) in Intercultural Communication, Graduate Writing, or Thesis Writing. For more detailed information contact Sukyun Lee, sylee@mica.edu.

ENROLLING IN ELECTIVE COURSES

Graduate students can register for graduate - level courses via MICA's online enrollment system. To register for an undergraduate level course, with prerequisites or enrollment restrictions, you will need to request approval to enroll from the undergraduate instructor.

ADVISING / REGISTRATION SUPPORT

Schedule an advising appointment to review your degree plan / progress to graduation. Your graduate advisor is available to assist you in the enrollment process. You may schedule an appointment by phone, online, or in person with LaShay Harvey, Graduate Enrollment Advisor, LHarvey01@mica.edu, or 410-225-4219, during Open Advising Hours posted regularly throughout the year.
