Project Timeline

The Problem

Connection is fundamental to our existence as people - our happiness, our mental health and our lives.

The pandemic intensified this fundamental human need, as in-person events were prohibited.

The desire to connect is sometimes outweighed by how cumbersome and complex it is to plan an event.

How might we help people plan events while keeping them organized and stress-free throughout the end-to-end process?

The Need

COVID-19

The pandemic had a detrimental impact on the event industry and small businesses worldwide.

Pre-COVID, business events alone contributed $1.5T in global GDP and $2.5T in direct and indirect spending.

How might we rehabilitate local small businesses and foster growth in the global events industry?

Values

People value human connection and enjoy supporting local businesses.

Knowing the environmental impact of events, people look to support eco-friendly businesses.

How might we connect customers and businesses with shared values?

Opportunity

With restrictions lifting, 78% of the US population want in-person events to return to a primary role.

Healthy growth is projected in the Global Event Management Platform Market and the United States Event Market.

How might we support this demand and stimulate the events economy?

Our Mission

EventMate seeks to transform event planning into a seamless, transparent and consistent experience by creating a one-stop-shop that provides users with tools, partnerships and resources to bring meaningful moments to life – no matter the size or occasion.

Competitive Analysis

In-platform tool consolidation improves overall efficiency.

In-platform tools will free up resources and reduce the number of additional platforms needed to plan and manage events.

 Sizzabo

Customization is a value driver for vendors and customers.

Increased customization with contracts, invoices, checklists and budgets will reduce manual efforts and give users more flexibility to meet their needs.

A loyalty program may incentivize users to sign up for the platform.

People are motivated by loyalty programs, but they need to understand exactly how to earn and use those rewards for a positive experience.

 OpenTable®

Consistent and intuitive UX are imperative for user retention.

Delightful and user-friendly experiences will boost overall user confidence and generate more sign-ups for the platform.

Competitive Advantage

Centralized Location

There is a gap in the market for one platform that does it all. EventMate will support users throughout the research, comparison, booking and planning processes, while eliminating the need to use multiple platforms to plan and manage an event.

Customization

Existing platforms have little to no customization. EventMate will allow users to be in full control over budgets, checklists, contracts and questionnaires so they can tailor the platform to meet their needs.

Transparency

Current platforms provide limited insight into vendor updates, expectations and contracts. EventMate will showcase up-to-date statuses for booked vendors, average vendor response rate, cancellation policies and important contract clauses.

Small Business Friendly

Current B2B event management technologies are costly and non-user friendly. EventMate will provide additional support to small businesses, while being intuitive, easy to use and affordable.

Customer Discovery

Audience segments, pre-interview assumptions and findings across audience segments.

Audience Segments

Customers

People in major US cities with disposable income to spend on events for their friends, families and colleagues.

- Social individuals who want to plan events
- People looking to support local, eco-friendly and minority-owned businesses
- For-profit corporations, non-profit organizations and educational institutions

Vendors

Small businesses in or near major US cities looking to generate leads, streamline manual processes and increase marketing efforts.

- Small businesses that provide products and services to boutique personal events
- Eco-friendly and minority-owned businesses
- Merchants looking to recuperate COVID-associated business losses

Event Planners

Boutique event planners in or near major US cities looking to generate leads, streamline manual processes and increase marketing efforts.

- Event planners with experience planning birthdays, weddings, themed parties and corporate social events
- Event planners with existing vendor relationships that are interested in developing new vendor partnerships

Assumptions

People are eager to host events, but they are overwhelmed by the amount of time and research it takes to plan them.

Since COVID-19, people are more mindful of supporting small businesses.

People want more transparency with vendors to determine if they're the right fit for their needs.

Small businesses are struggling to keep up with the current increase in demand.

It takes multiple platforms to plan an event, manage event progress and stay organized throughout the process.

Small businesses want to invest in additional marketing efforts, but currently don't have the resources to do so.

Participant Overview

4/4 customer participants struggle with organizing the moving pieces of an event and are frustrated by how long it takes to research, plan and coordinate with vendors.

3/4 customer participants lack trust in customer reviews and certain vendors, saying they don't feel real.

3/4 customer participants want more transparency with vendor pricing while planning events

Social Sandra

Customer Persona

Age 30
Location Los Angeles, CA
Job Title Executive Assistant

About

Sandra works part-time at a private equity company. She and her husband have a 2-year-old son with a daughter on the way. Sandra likes to support local businesses and is mindful of sustainability. She loves hosting parties at her house for her friends and family to celebrate every occasion. Sandra enjoys coming up with unique themes, but she needs some inspiration. She wants them to be meaningful and memorable for her guests. She is a little anxious about health and safety when planning and hosting.

Goals

- Plan and manage her themed events in a centralized location on both desktop and mobile app
- Work with responsive and high quality local businesses
- Quickly share her event's information with friends and family
- Find inspiration for unique event themes and ideas

Pain Points

- Lack of flexibility and customization with current platforms
- Time-consuming back-and-forth when talking to vendors
- Inconsistency in vendor communication style
- Lack of transparency with vendors
- Having to use multiple platforms when planning events

Current Platforms

- Gmail for communicating with vendors
- Google Sheets and Google Docs for organization
- Google for searching vendors
- Evernote for checklists and to-do lists
- Facebook for communicating with guests
- Pinterest for event inspiration

Needs

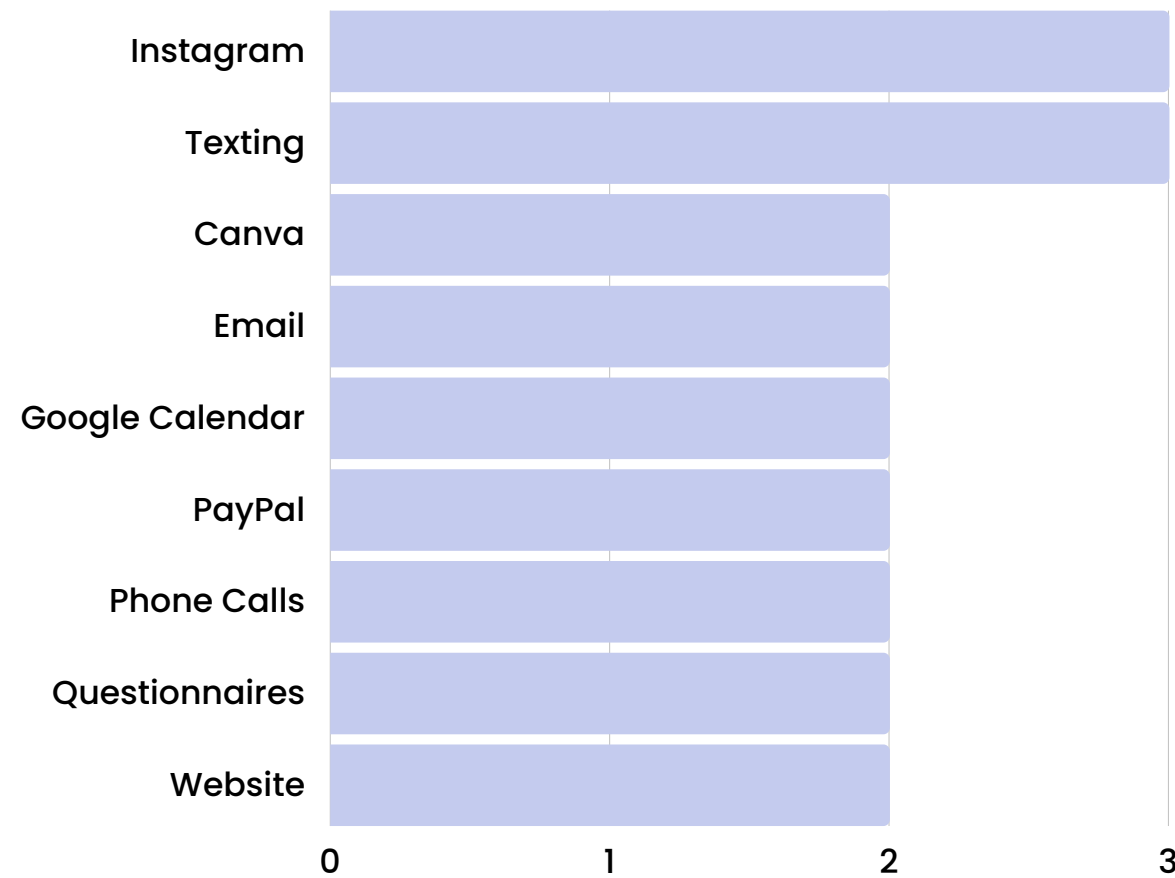

- Centralized location for planning events on desktop and app
- Vendors that fit specific criteria without lots of research
- Reminders for occasions, payments and contracts
- Status updates from vendors to eliminate back-and-forth
- Intuitive tools for timelines, budgets and vendor comparison
- Customizable dashboard to track event progress
- Customer reviews for vendors to help with decision-making

Personality

Vendors

10.67 average number of platforms & tools used when planning events.

Vendor participants mentioned a total of 21 different platforms they use when planning events. The most commonly used platforms between the 3 vendor participants are outlined above.

3/3 vendor participants would pay for a new platform to help with organization, communication, contracts and process automation.

3/3 vendor participants find the amount of manual processes in planning any event to be cumbersome.

3/3 vendor participants are seeing a major demand increase as COVID restrictions lift, as their businesses are noticeably busier this year compared to last year.

2/3 vendor participants want to increase their marketing efforts, but can't due to a lack of resources.

Busy Brittany

Vendor Persona

Age 28

Location San Jose, CA

Job Title Partner Manager & Event Planner

About

Brittany works full-time at a tech company and plans personal and corporate events as her side hustle. She enjoys creating memorable moments. She works with a network of local businesses that she's built relationships with since starting her business during the pandemic. She has two part-time employees, but does the majority of event work herself. She uses Instagram as her marketing platform and has seen a big demand increase over the past year, which she has trouble keeping up with.

Goals

- Respond to client inquiries in a more timely manner
- Cut time spent on operations to engage more with clients
- Easily showcase her past work to potential clients
- Increase marketing efforts without spending more time on it
- Give vendors access to her schedule, pricing and inventory

Pain Points

- Lack of time, staff and other in-house resources to grow her business to full-scale
- Time and manual effort spent on invoices and contracts
- Staying organized with client and vendor communications
- Having to use multiple platforms when planning events

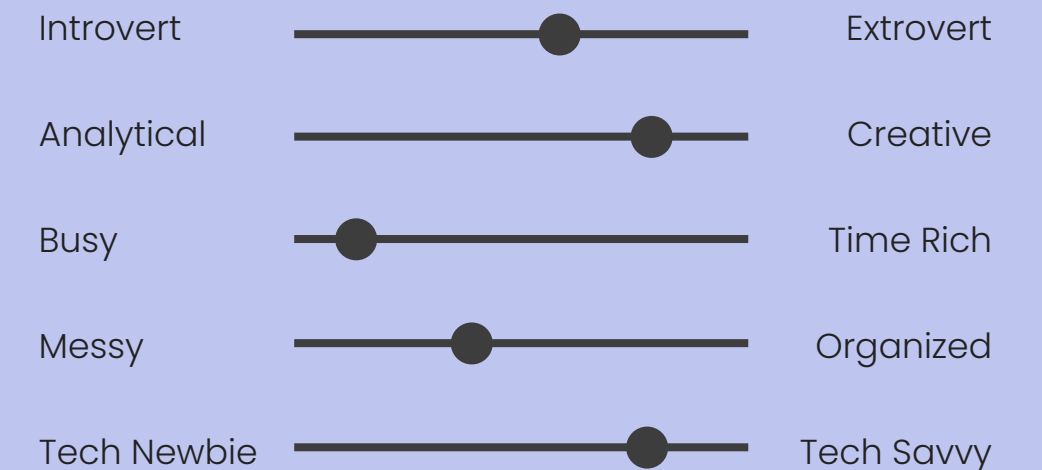

Current Platforms

- Gmail for communicating with clients
- Google Sheets and Google Docs for organization
- Google Calendar for client orders and team schedules
- Instagram for marketing efforts
- Questionnaires for getting client information
- Website connected to Shopify for client orders

Needs

- Centralized location for planning events on desktop and app
- Process automation for inquiries, invoices and contracts
- Integration with email, calendar and payment platforms
- Reminders for follow-ups and upcoming deadlines
- Customization with contracts to reduce manual effort
- Customer questionnaires to drill down on what they want
- Avoid reiterating client conversations to vendors

Personality

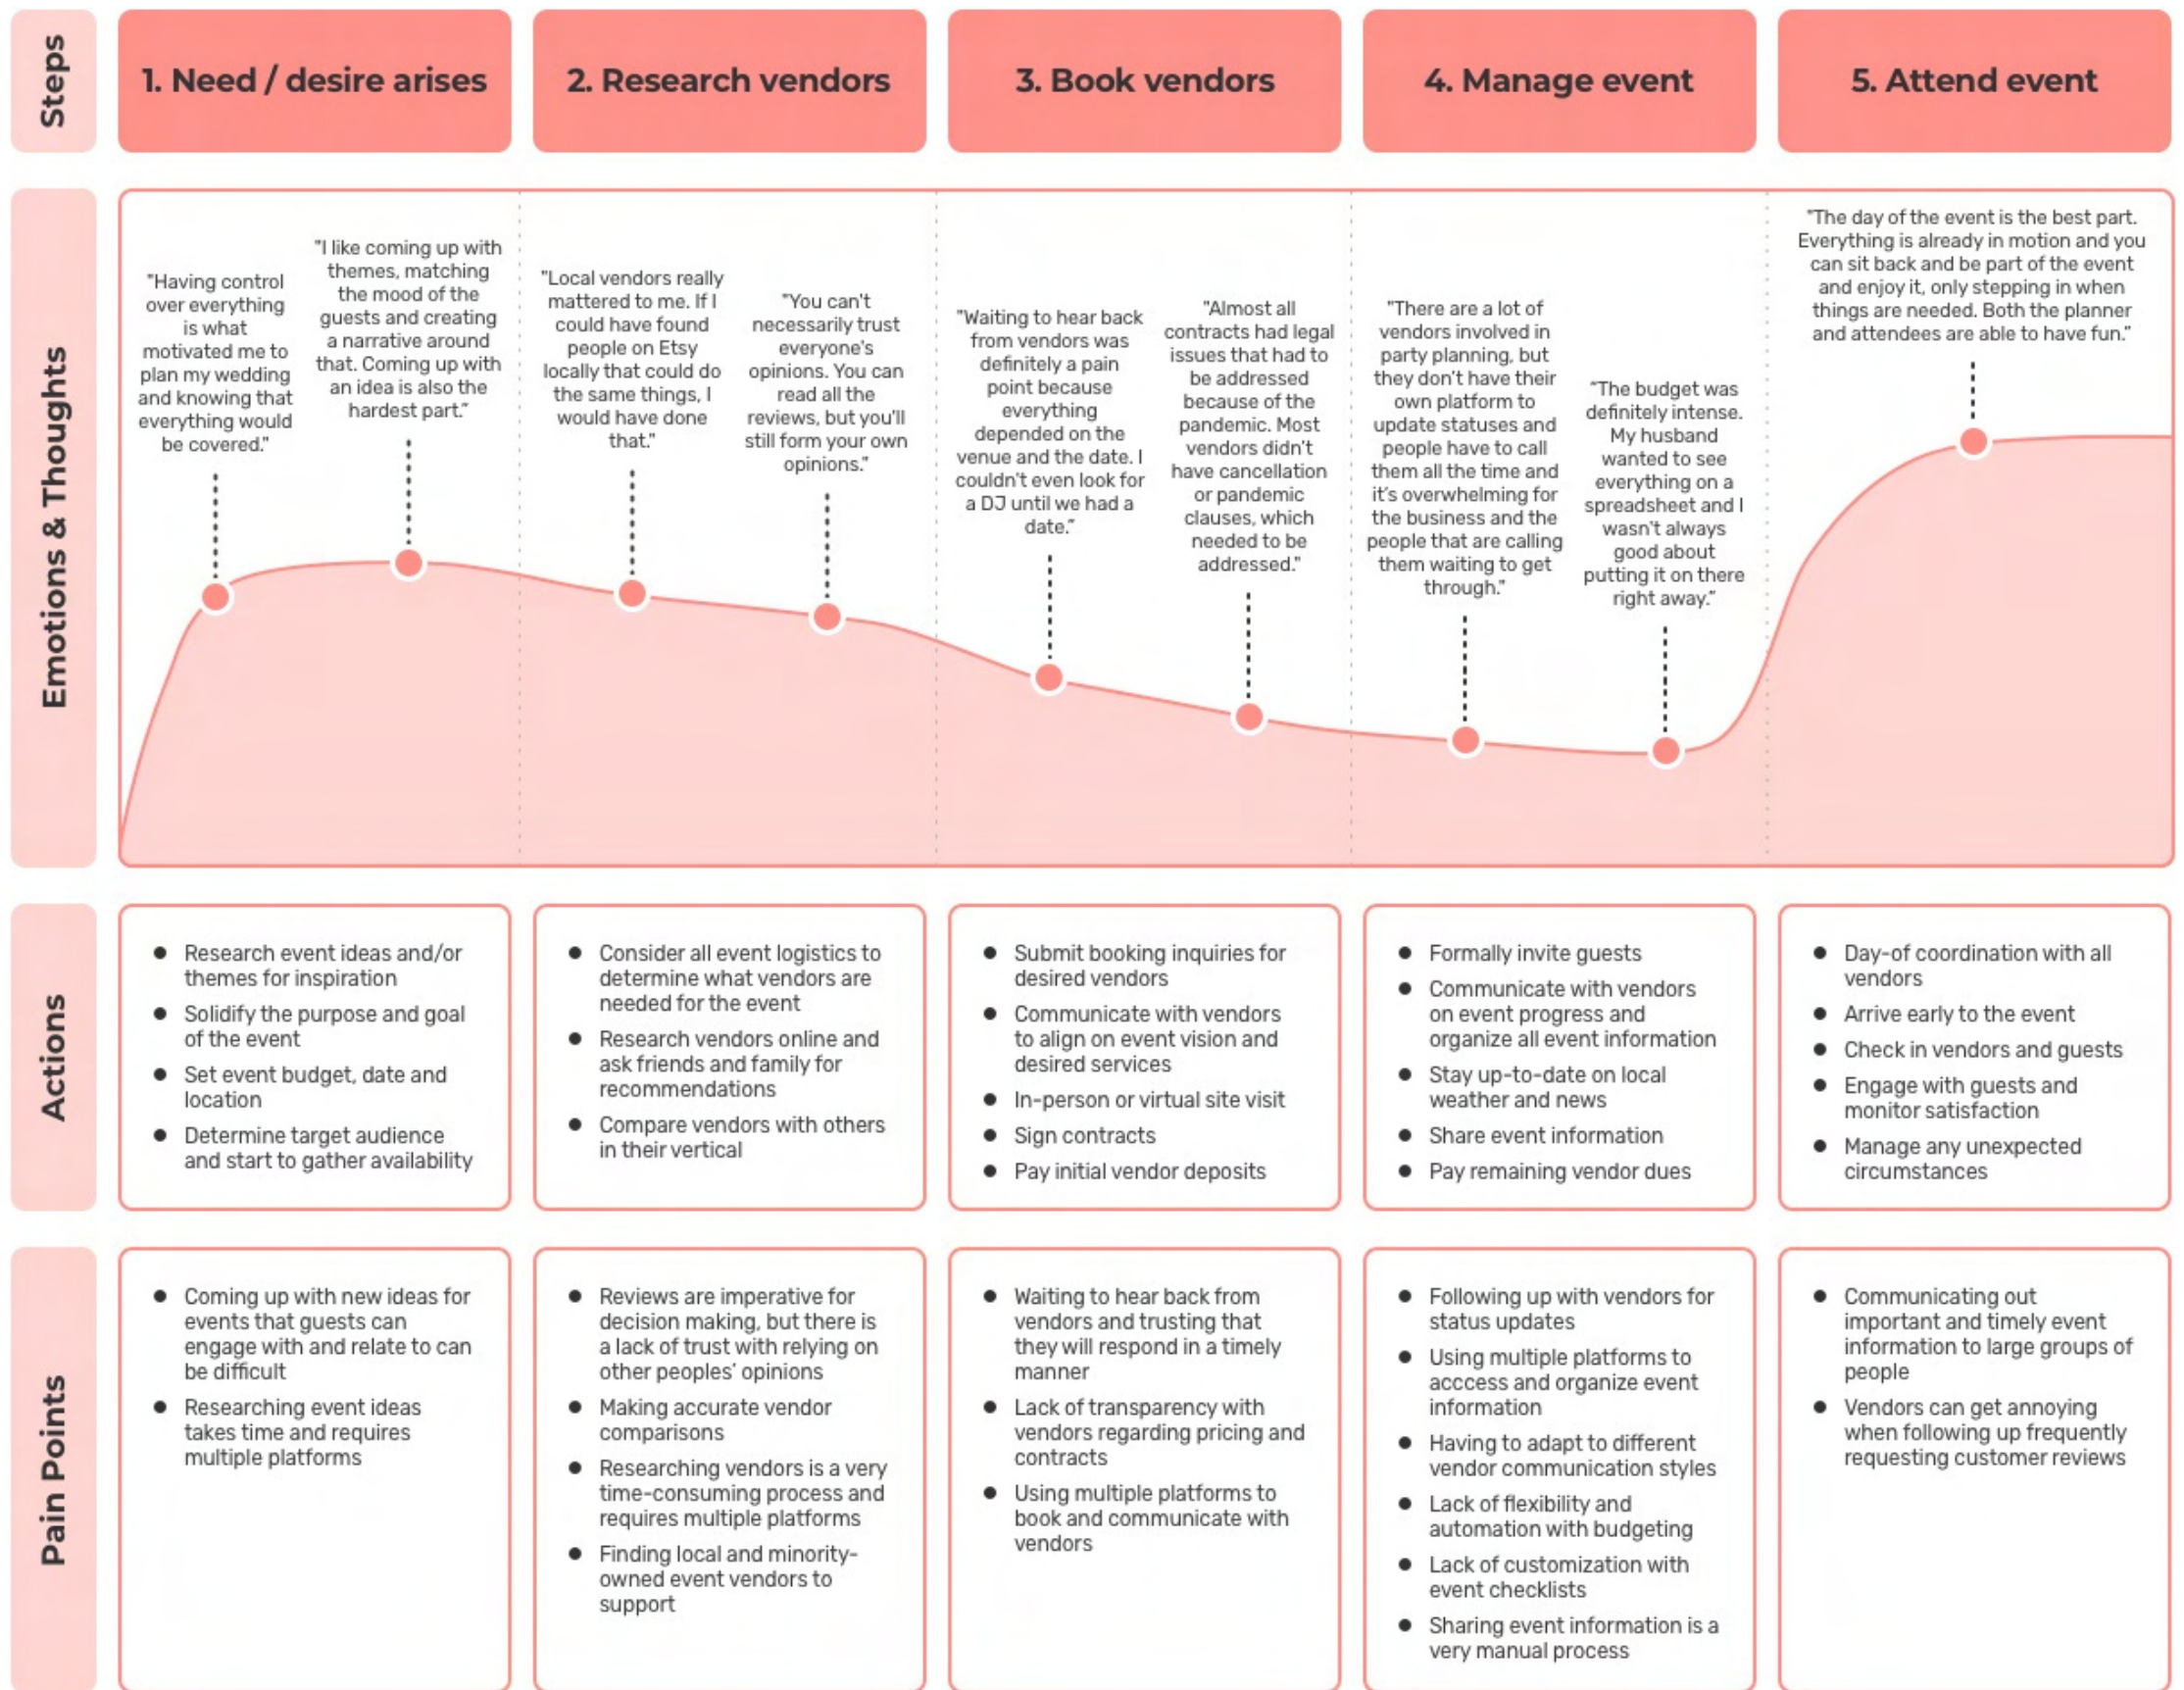

Initial Designs

Methodology, lo-fi wireframes and mid-fi prototype.

Methodology

1. Create a journey map to identify opportunities for EventMate to address user pain points
2. Create lo-fi wireframes for key customer tasks on EventMate
3. Create mid-fi prototype incorporating EventMate branding & design system
4. Conduct 5 usability tests with screened participants on mid-fi prototype:
 - Introduction to EventMate
 - Pre-task questions covering how participants currently feel about event planning
 - Moderated tasks on mid-fi prototype
 - Post-task questions covering overall experience and additional feedback
5. Analyze test results to develop design recommendations and next steps
6. Create hi-fi prototype incorporating feedback from usability testing

1 Search for a Vendor

The screenshot shows the EventMate homepage. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'EventMate' logo, 'Vendors', 'Inspiration', 'About Us', and 'Help'. Below the navigation, a large heading reads 'Bring your moment to life' with a subtext: 'Search for, compare and book top vendors for your next event, no matter the size or occasion. EventMate connects you with a network of local services that fit your budget and vision.' A search bar is prominently displayed with 'Florists' and 'San Jose, CA' entered. Below the search bar, there's a section titled 'Looking for personalized event recommendations?' with a 'Let's Get Started' button. At the bottom, there's a section 'Need some inspiration?' with a 'View more' link and several event thumbnails.

The screenshot shows search results for 'Florists in San Jose, CA'. The top of the page has a search bar with 'Florists' and 'San Jose, CA' entered. Below the search bar, there are various filters like 'Price', 'Availability', 'Distance', 'Style', 'Services', 'Arrangements', 'Rating', 'Response Rate', 'Diversity', 'Environment', and 'Keywords'. A grid of 16 vendor cards is displayed, each with a photo of a floral arrangement, a name, a rating, and a starting price. The vendors listed include Bloom Gallery, Florabella Studios, Floral Expressions, The Florachic, Sandy's Florals, Manny's Garden, Bough & Twig, Autumn Design, The Flower House, Flowerstory, S & S Flowers, and Bloom Culture.

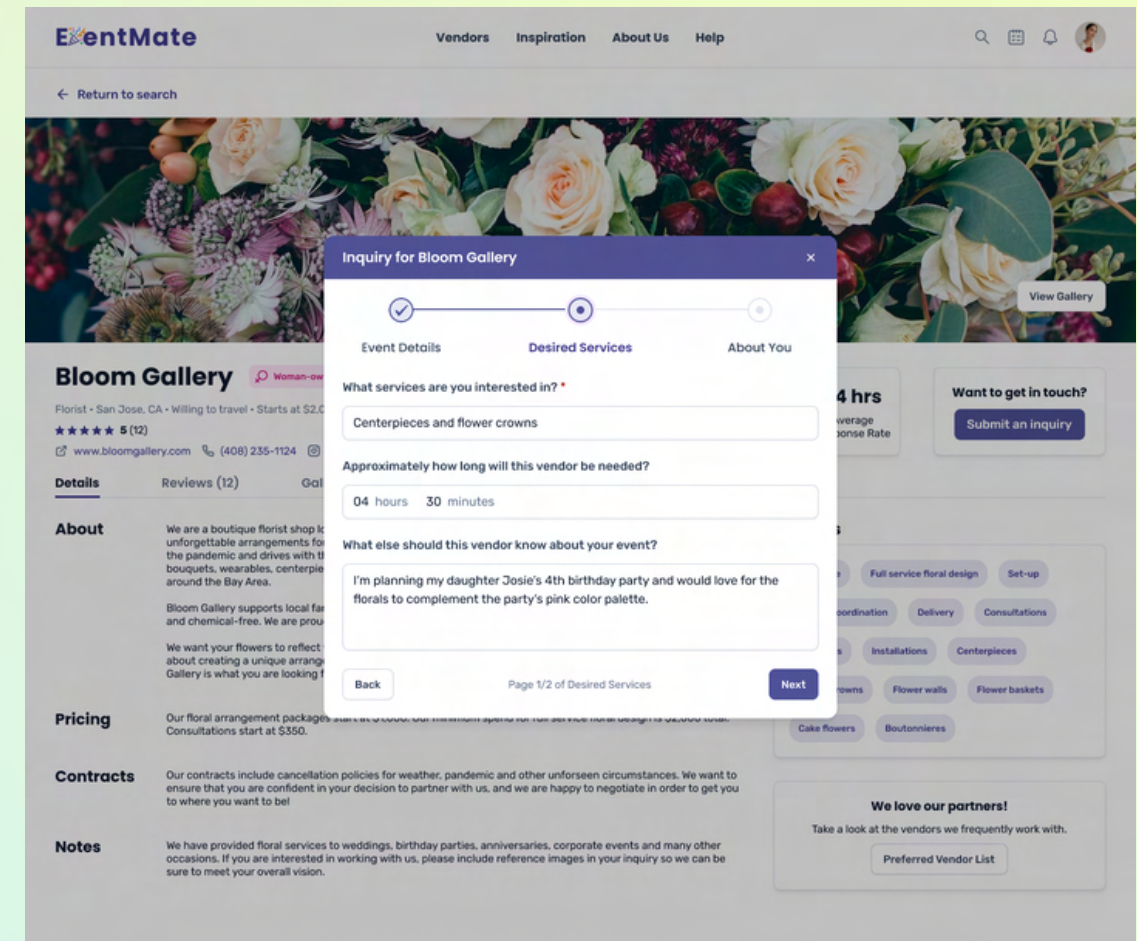

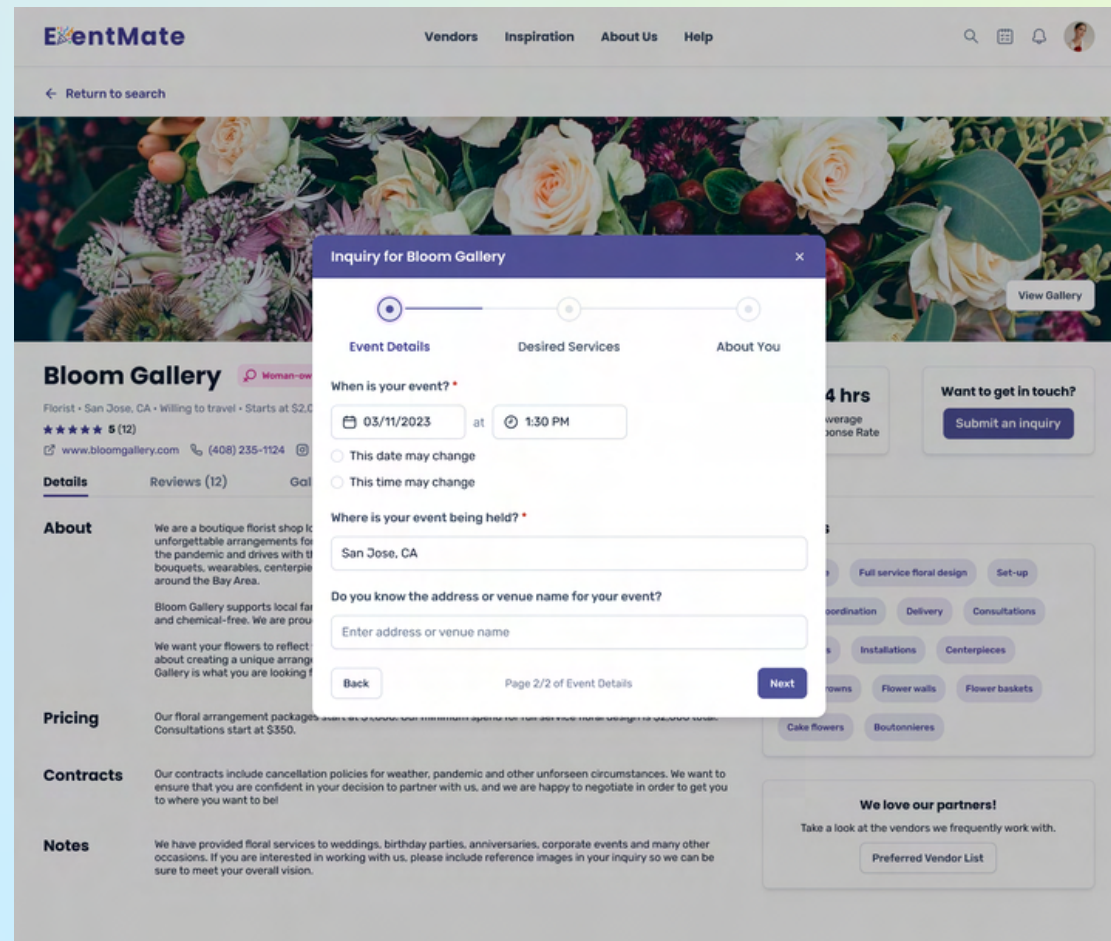

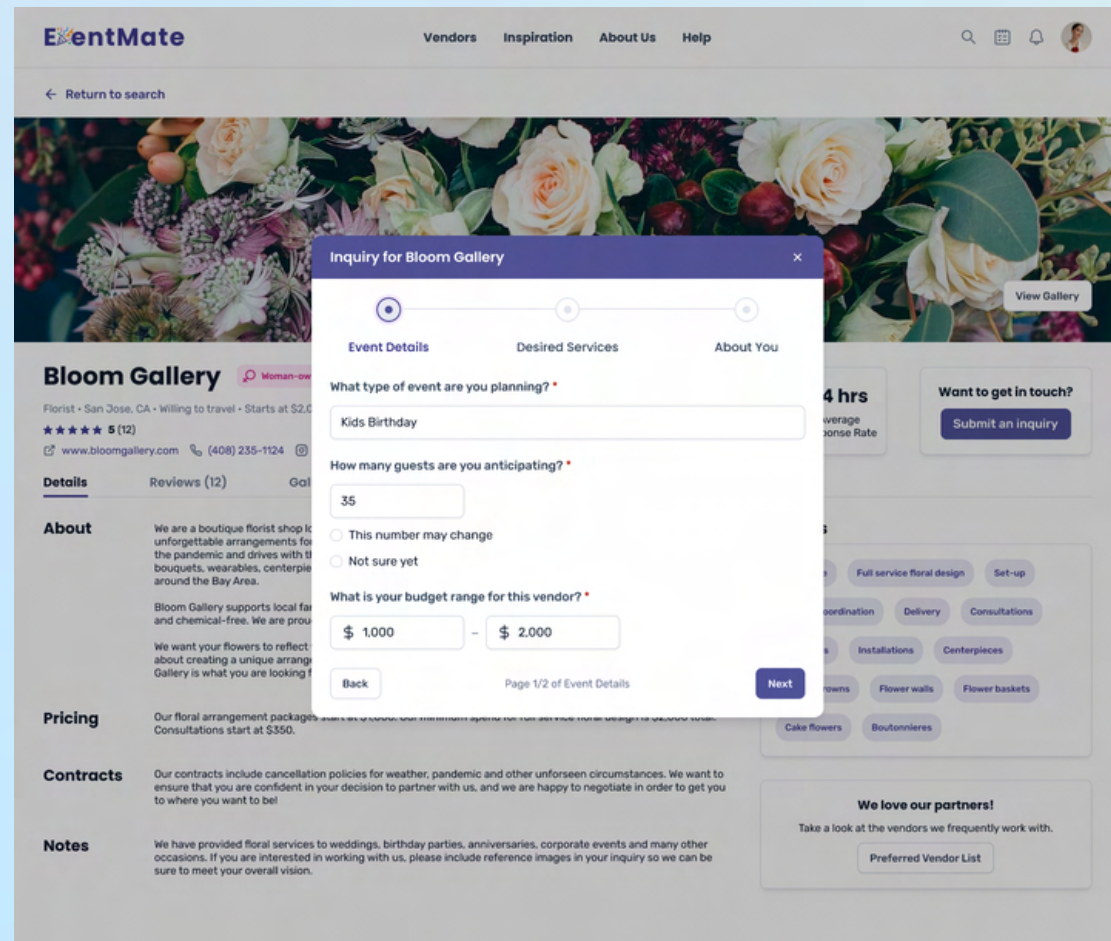

The screenshot shows the vendor profile for 'Bloom Gallery'. The top of the page has a navigation bar with 'EventMate' logo, 'Vendors', 'Inspiration', 'About Us', and 'Help'. Below the navigation, there's a heading 'Bloom Gallery' with a 'Return to search' link. A large image of a floral arrangement is shown. Below the image, there's a 'View Gallery' button. The profile includes a rating of 5 stars (12 reviews), a starting price of $1,000, and a '24 hrs Average Response Rate'. There's a 'Submit an inquiry' button. The 'About' section describes the shop as a boutique florist shop located in San Jose, CA, focusing on elegant, unique, and unforgettable arrangements for micro weddings, events, and other occasions. The 'Services' section lists various services like 'A la carte', 'Full service floral design', 'Set-up', 'Day-of coordination', 'Delivery', 'Consultations', 'Bouquets', 'Installations', 'Centerpieces', 'Flower crowns', 'Flower walls', 'Flower baskets', 'Cake flowers', and 'Boutonnieres'. The 'Pricing' section states that floral arrangement packages start at $1,000 and full service floral design starts at $2,000. The 'Contracts' section mentions cancellation policies for weather, pandemic, and other unforeseen circumstances. The 'Notes' section states that the shop has provided floral services to weddings, birthday parties, anniversaries, corporate events, and many other occasions.

Solutions

Homepage & Top Navigation

Showcase wider variety of event types and age groups that EventMate supports with an image carousel.

Highlight visuals in inspiration and vendor sections with hover states to entice users to engage further with content.

Make icons more prominent with hover states to reduce confusion.

Move inspiration next to search box to evenly break up visual content and encourage users to expand their search.

Solutions

Filters & Vendor Cards

Adjust treatment of category filters with a separate section to reduce confusion on their purpose.

Add more visuals to each vendor card with carousels to facilitate decision-making and showcase vendor styles and services.

Rename to match user expectations.

Rearrange filters in order of importance and user preference.

Update vendor badges from Minority-owned to reflect diversity.

Join card together with an outline for clearer grouping of vendor information.

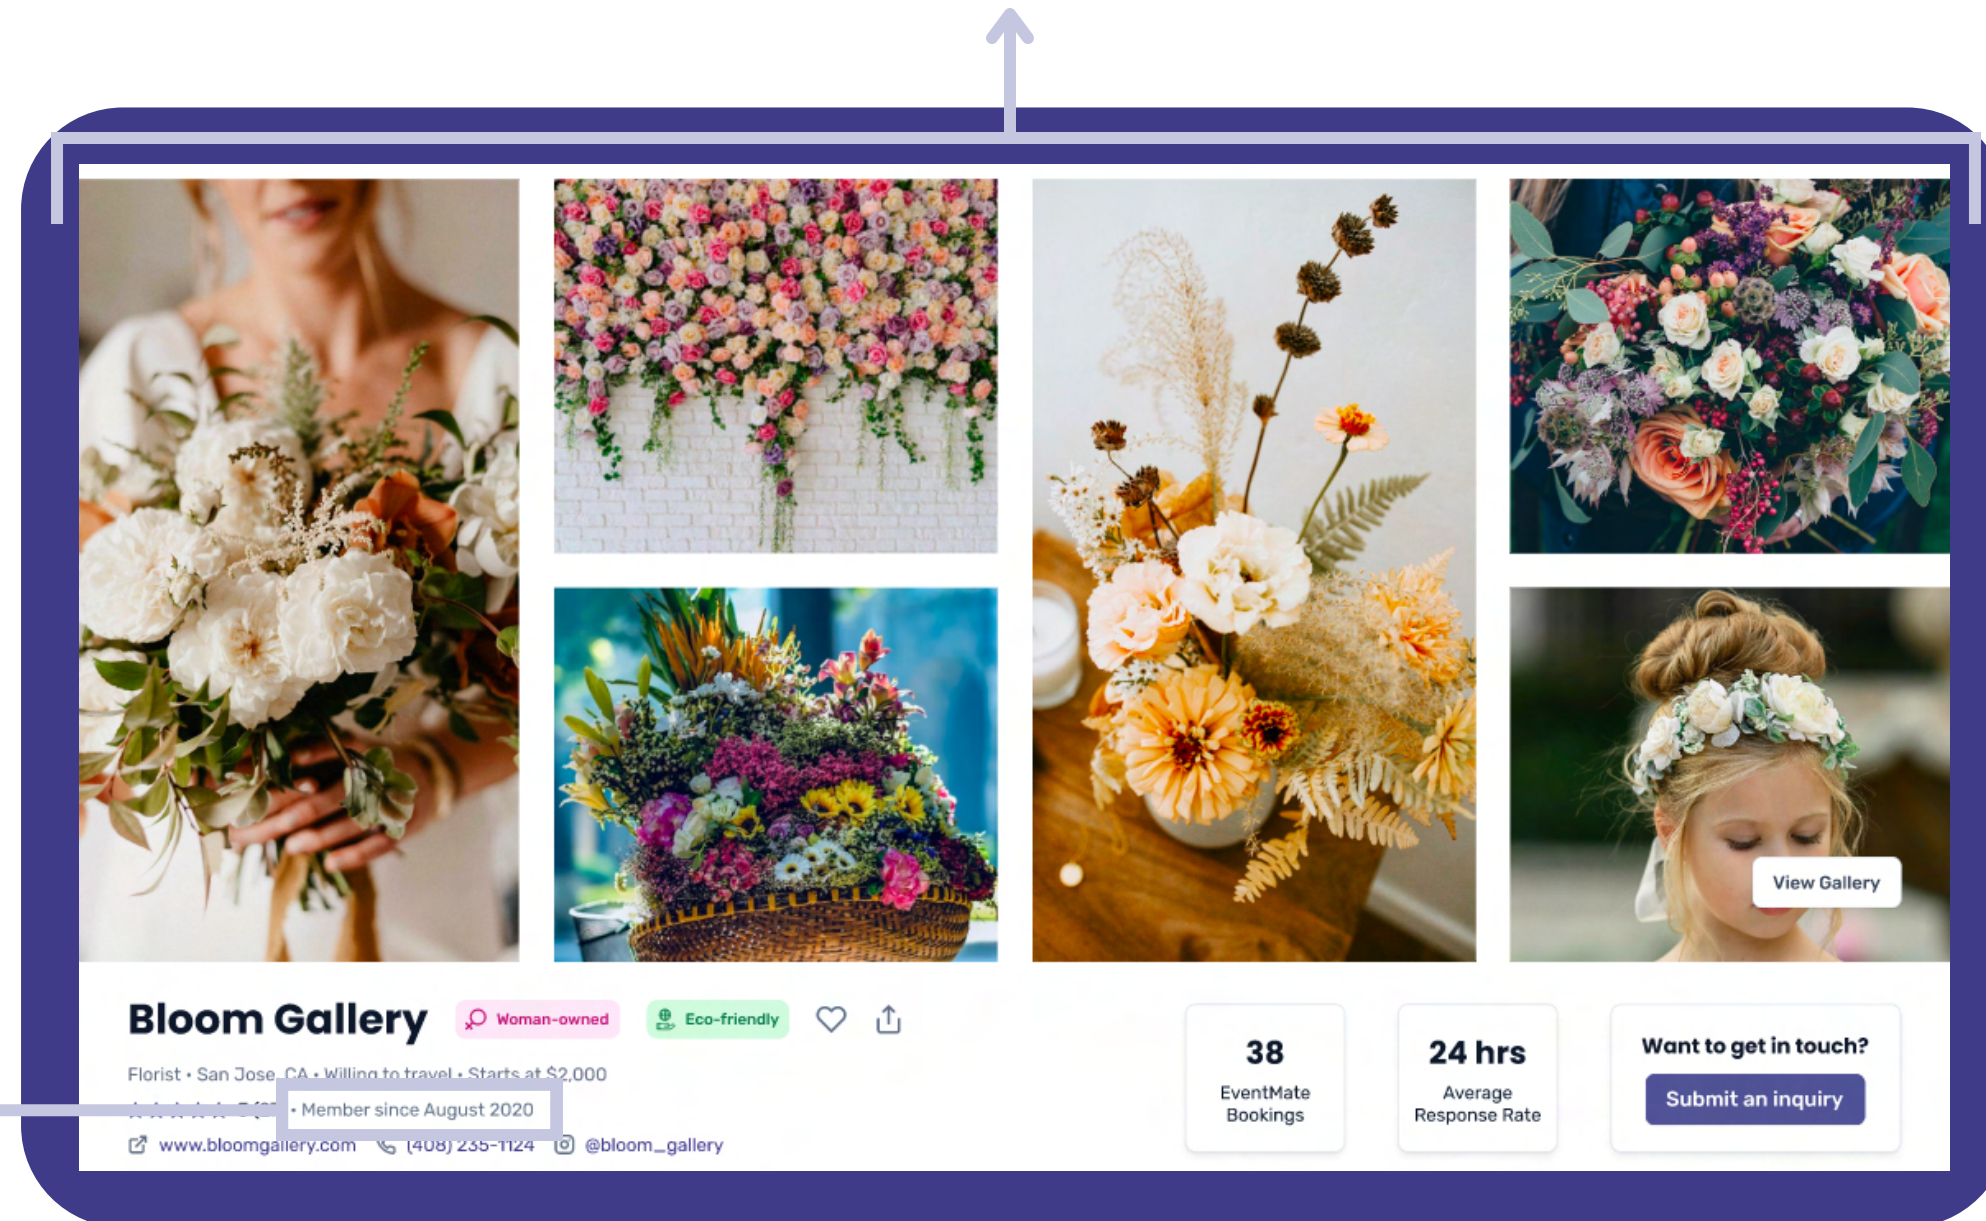

Solutions

Vendor Page

Grab user attention immediately when they land on a vendor page with more images in a carousel to swipe through.

Provide users with more context on EventMate bookings by showing when a vendor joined the platform.

Solutions

Appendix

Supporting research and additional data representations.

The pandemic had a detrimental impact on the event industry and small businesses in the United States. Small businesses experienced major resource constraints and many had to close up shop.

Pre-COVID, business events alone contributed $1.5T in global GDP and $2.5T in direct and indirect spending.

How might we rehabilitate local small businesses and foster growth in the events industry?

COVID-19

65.5%

of small businesses noted a moderate negative to large negative effect

87%

of event professionals cancelled events

27%

of event suppliers experienced salary reductions

43.6%

of small businesses have not received any financial aid since December 2020

14.7%

of small businesses had to permanently close a location

18%

of event suppliers had to lay off other team members

The Opportunity

$60.01B

projected Global Event Management Platform Market size by 2028
(11.5% CAGR)

$2,194.4B

projected Global Events Industry Market size by 2028
(13.48% CAGR)

$538.6B

projected US Event Market size by 2030
(13.0% CAGR)

Once the pandemic is behind us, 28% of US event suppliers expect a pent-up demand to meet face-to-face.

Now that restrictions are lifting, 78% of the US population want in-person events to return to a primary role.

There is healthy growth projected in the Global Event Management Platform Market and both the Global and United States Events Markets.

New technologies can support this in-person demand and stimulate the economy.

Macro Forces

Demographic

People are concerned about data privacy and don't want their data and information to be shared without explicit permission.

People are more inclined to associate with brands that share their values.

People value human connection and are looking to reconnect in the wake of the pandemic.

Economic

Recent inflation and fear of recession may cause people to be more conscious of cash outflows and engaging in social activities that cost money.

Supply and demand constraints may impact vendor relationships and the ability for vendors to provide their highest quality service

Communities with less financial and technological resources may struggle with platform adoption.

Socio-Cultural

People are more inclined to support small businesses since COVID-19.

People celebrate cultural and religious differences.

People are more conscious of vendors' health and safety standards and practices since COVID-19.

Macro Forces

Technological

Process automation and customization are value drivers for smaller vendors and independent service providers.

Strong social media presence is needed to maximize exposure, grow customer base and develop brand loyalty.

The platform must be accessible on a desktop website and mobile application to support people on-the-go.

Ecological

Weather and climate changes may impact reservations, cancellations and overall event progress

In-person events have a greater negative impact on the environment compared to virtual and hybrid events.

People need transparency around cancellation policies related to weather and the pandemic.

Political

The platform must be compliant with discrimination laws.

The platform must have a strict privacy policy to inform users that their data and information will not be shared.

Pandemic-related government mandates may limit or prohibit in-person events.

Technical Risks

Technical risks include data security, data loss prevention, data intrusion prevention, endpoint protection, business continuity break fix, internal and external integrations, technical licensing, OEM partnerships and implementation.

Failure to develop the right infrastructure and integrations to support the platform while maintaining data security can lead to downtime, data leaks, loss of revenue, additional resource constraints and other legal implications.

EventMate needs to invest in the right partners, engineers and product leaders to ensure proper implementation and rollout.

External Risks

External risks include lack of customer and vendor relationships, resistance to platform adoption, economic and political instability, environmental triggers and competition.

Not enough customers or vendors will lead to a negative experience, decrease in users and loss in revenue. Environmental, economic and political uncertainty can cause event cancellations and impact vendor and customer spending behavior.

EventMate needs to support users during difficult times and expand its offerings to strengthen relationships and user retention.

Organizational Risks

Organizational risks include lack of resources, lack of communication between teams, lack of employee trainings, corporate culture and overall strategy.

These risks have major implications on how EventMate conducts its business and handles communications both internally and externally. Addressing organizational risks will reduce additional external, financial, legal, project management, reputation and emotional risks.

EventMate needs to invest in the right employees, set them up for success, improve transparency and ensure all initiatives support the platform's mission and strategy.

Project Management Risks

Project management risks include lack of product requirements and inaccurate estimates for scheduling, budget and performance.

Improper project management may cause release and expansion delays, additional resources to be acquired and damaged relationships with employees, leadership and stakeholders.

EventMate needs to facilitate cross-functional communication, ensure all estimates are accurate, have enough resources to be able to accommodate for unexpected changes and encourage relevant and timely updates to leadership.

Financial Risks

Financial risks include lack of capital investment, lack of free cash flow and increased interest rates.

Investors need to have full trust in EventMate to provide access to funds and so the platform can continue to push out releases to meet stakeholder, vendor and customer needs. Cash restrictions can lead to budget cuts and layoffs, which may bring about other project management, organizational, emotional and reputation risks.

EventMate needs to run at operational efficiency within the first 3 years to strengthen investor relationships and secure access to additional investments.

Legal Risks

Legal risks include contract infringement, data privacy compliance at the state level, employment and tax laws, licensing and end user agreements.

Failure to have the proper licensing and comply with state and federal laws puts EventMate at risk for lawsuits and major legal costs. This can cause additional financial, reputation, emotional, organizational and external risks, and potentially shut us down.

EventMate needs to have a strong legal team to mitigate any potential lawsuits and associated costs, as well as ensure vendors and customers are informed of the platform's terms and conditions.

Reputation Risks

Reputation risks include negative press, negative reviews and not meeting the expectations of stakeholders, employees, vendors and customers.

The reputation of EventMate is crucial, especially early on while still seeking investment from stakeholders. A damaged reputation can put EventMate at risk for financial, external and emotional ramifications, as negative reviews can cause subscription cancellations and ultimately a loss in revenue.

EventMate needs to manage stakeholder expectations and encourage proactive customer support to ensure user satisfaction.

Emotional Risks

Emotional risks include buyers remorse, such as customers regretting their vendor decision, vendors regretting their partnership decision and stakeholders regretting their investment in EventMate.

A lack of confidence in purchase decisions can lead to cash restrictions and subscription cancellations, which translate into other financial and organizational risks based on impacted resources.

EventMate needs strong post-purchase marketing efforts to re-affirm user purchase decisions, while ensuring stakeholders are proactively informed on the progress and ROI of all platform initiatives.

Solution Overview

Provide vendors and customers with a centralized location for event planning and management.

EventMate is a one-stop-shop that provides vendors and customers with tools and partnerships to bring memorable moments to life - no matter the size or occasion.

Increase operational efficiency for local businesses with customization and process automation.

EventMate seeks to reduce the resources needed to successfully manage and grow local small businesses so vendors can spend more time engaging with clients.

Empower customers to plan their own events with intuitive planning tools.

EventMate provides users with customizable budget trackers, checklists and dashboards to improve organization and make event planning a delightful and stress-free process.

Generate high quality leads for local small businesses.

EventMate increases brand recognition for vendors and generates incremental leads by creating a new platform for high-intent customers to find and book event-related services.

Provide customers with high quality vendors that meet their needs.

EventMate features top local businesses across an extensive category range for customers to search through, compare, book, communicate with and review.

Improve accountability and transparency around vendors.

EventMate showcases vendor badges, average response rate, pricing, availability, comments, ratings, media, cancellation policies to facilitate customer decision-making.

Desired Outcomes

Support local small businesses across the United States.

EventMate seeks to recuperate COVID-associated business losses for local vendors by generating new leads and reducing the amount of resources and platforms needed to plan and manage events.

Improve the end-to-end event planning process.

EventMate will eliminate some of the time, stress and complexities associated with events by improving transparency and providing vendors and customers with a centralized location for events.

Improve accessibility to events for humankind.

EventMate is dedicated to supporting all users by featuring an accessible color palette, screen readers, language translations and voice-activated search for hearing- and visually-impaired individuals.

Foster growth in the event-planning industry to stimulate the economy.

By improving the end-to-end event planning process, EventMate will increase the demand for custom events and support that demand increase with this new technology.

Encourage and increase human connection.

EventMate simplifies event planning to encourage the creation of personal events in order to give people additional opportunities to connect and engage with each other.

Reduce the environmental impact of events.

EventMate vendors will go through a due diligence process, and the platform will encourage customers to book eco-friendly vendors by showcasing their commitment to saving the planet.

Roadmap Rollout

Year 1

Build the MVP while establishing EventMate's branding, website, marketing strategy and social media presence to generate interest from customers, vendors, employees and stakeholders.

Year 2

Test and launch the MVP with initial test market and vendor types, while hosting webinars for vendors to inform them of the platform, incentivize membership and provide educational resources.

Year 3

Secure additional funding to build and release new product features that will enhance the platform's UX, strengthen our competitive advantage, generate more sign-ups and begin to scale the business.

Year 4

Expand into new markets and vendor types to support additional local small business partners and provide customers with more options for their events. Potential to build and release virtual event services.

Year 5+

Incorporate user feedback into new product features. Run at financial operational efficiency and hire more staff. Launch community impact initiatives. Expand internationally. Go public and launch employee stock program.

Test Market

Birthdays, themed parties and weddings are the top personal event types that people are looking to plan. EventMate will partner with key vendors for these personal event types.
